Voicemail Services

Is your office desk cluttered due to an oversized answering machine? Are you stuck with a local or long-distance carrier because of your voicemail?

AnswerNet can take care of all of that with our Voicemail Services—an inexpensive way to provide you peace of mind.

Voicemail is a cost-effective way to provide your customers a way of contacting you. With AnswerNet's Voicemail Services, you can rest assured that your callers will be able to leave you a message without the hassle of your office line ringing all day.

With 28 local offices across North America and Canada, we can provide your company virtually any phone number in the area code of your preference, even 212 in NYC. Prefer to advertise an 800 number? We have access to thousands of toll-free and vanity numbers as well.

Wish you could access your voicemail messages from your email? You can with AnswerNet's E-VOX system. E-VOX automatically converts voicemails into .wav files. These files are then instantly sent to your email address as file attachments. Each voicemail message is placed into separate emails, allowing you to listen to them as you check your inbox.

AnswerNet can also transcribe your voicemail messages and send them to you via email, making it very easy to share your messages or archive them later for review.
